Updated June 2013 for IT 595 Professional Ethics in Instructional Technology to include closed captions for Accessible Media Development Project.

Script:

How to identify subjects and verbs with your host Mrs. Trunzo

I bet you know what a subject and a verb is since you have been learning about them since elementary school. But, can you find them in a given sentence? Let's review how.

There are two steps to identifying the subject and verb of a sentence. Step one: Find the verb. Step two: Ask who or what is, and then fill in the blank with the verb you ID'd in step one.

0:09 I bet you know what a subject and a verb is since you have been learning about them since elementary school. But, can you find them in a given sentence? Let's review how.

0:22 There are two steps to identifying the subject and verb of a sentence. Step one: Find the verb. Step two: Ask who or what is, and then fill in the blank with the verb you ID'd in step one.

0:39 Okay, you got that? What? You need an example? Oh, sure! Yeah. Here you go!

0:50 Justin Bieber rescued his monkey from German custom agents.

0:56 The first step is to identify the verb. Remember, a verb is an action, something the subject does like run, swim, sing, or it can be a state of being like is, are, was, were, for example.

1:17 So, in our sentence, "Justin Bieber rescued his monkey from German custom agents,"

GOAL = Create a level learning space
